

A diagram of a three-axis gimbal system. It consists of a central hub with three arms extending from it. Each arm holds a rectangular sensor or camera module. The arms are arranged in a Y-shape, with one pointing upwards and two pointing outwards at an angle.

